High Court clears hurdles for long-pending site allotment

MUDA to distribute sites in R.T. Nagar

Futuristic, beautifully made & the best layout in city

Mysuru, Apr. 24 (RK&BCT)- April 24 (today) will be the Red-Letter Day for Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) as the Karnataka High Court has cleared the long-pending distribution of sites in R.T. Nagar this morning.

Following the High Court order, MUDA will start issuing sites to thousands of beneficiaries as all hurdles for the ambitious project that has been pending since 10 years have been cleared, said MUDA Chairman D. Dhruvakumar.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Dhruvakumar said that the efforts of MUDA, especially Commissioner Dr. M. Mahesh and other officials have paid off and even the farmers from whom lands have been acquired have agreed for 50:50 ratio under which sites will be distributed. Only Intermediate Sites (IS) and Odd Sites (OS) would be given to the land owners under this agreement.

D. Dhruvakumar
MUDA Chairman

"This was possible due to special interest shown by Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and MUDA authorities who have relentlessly pursued the issue (be it court cases or compensation to land owners) since the last five years. Very soon, we will announce the site distribution dates in consultation with the CM," he said.

The R.T. Nagar Layout was formed along the Ring Road adjoining Kanakadasanagar and University layouts in a vast area of 219 acres. The land acquisition process had been completed in 1993-1994 and accordingly, compensations were paid. The layout comes under different survey numbers of Kergalli and 2,270 sites were formed to be distributed to over 1,760 aspirants and others, according to seniority order. Aspirants have been waiting for sites for more than 10 years and have already paid the necessary fee for site allotment.

It may be recalled here that in a setback for MUDA's ambitious plan of allotting sites in R.T. Nagar, farmer Pachhegowda from Kergalli Survey Number 115/9 and three other land owners had brought a stay from HC against distribution of sites claiming that they were paid inadequate compensation for their lands.

Questioning this, MUDA had moved the Supreme Court, which directed the High Court to resolve the issue. As per SC direction, the Karnataka HC took up the case and cleared the site distribution this morning. "We will distribute sites for 1,760 aspirants and will also sell the remaining sites in the due course," Dhruvakumar added. There are 394 Corner Sites (CS), 1,764 Intermediate Sites (IS), and 114 Odd Sites (OS) out of the total 2,270 sites.

After crow, eagle trouble for CM!

Eagle hits Siddharamaiah's chopper on his way to Shravanabelagola

Bengaluru, Apr. 24- Tense moments prevailed for some time as an eagle hit Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's chopper this morning while he was on his way to inaugurate a series of development programmes for the Mahamastakabhisheka of Lord Bahubali in Shravanabelagola. Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara was accompanying the CM.

Reports said that soon after the helicopter took off from the HAL Airport in Bengaluru, the eagle hit the chopper, forcing the pilot to return to the Airport for technical examination.

The chopper was examined by technical experts and certified that it was safe to fly. The CM then proceeded to Shravanabelagola.

It may be mentioned here that in June 2016, a crow had perched on Siddharamaiah's car bonnet in Bengaluru and refused to budge despite being shooed away several times.

Also, in January 2017, a crow's droppings fell on his sparkling white dhoti an event in Manjeshwaram in Kerala where he was with Kerala CM.

Triple-tier threat

Our bountiful planet Earth, as attributed by the land's rishis in yore, is perceived as Mother. They have also prescribed that we mortals pay grateful homage to Her at the break of dawn everyday chanting the lines: Samudra Vasane Devi, Parvata Stana Mandale, Vishnupatni Namastubhyam, Paada Sparsham Kshamasvame, pleading to be pardoned for having touched Her with our feet (as we tread per force). She is described as the consort of Lord Vishnu, while oceans are Her attire and mountain ranges Her breasts. According to Srimad Bhagavatam, below the Earth there are seven nether regions namely Athala, Vithala, Suthala, Thalaathala, Mahaathala, Rasaathala and Paathaala bustling with deadly reptiles and menacing demons.

Whether one complies with the prescription handed down by the rishis or not and irrespective of accepting the existence of regions below the Earth as credible, one cannot but reckon with three distinct spaces of Earth that require orderly conduct on the part of the currently estimated seven-plus billion humans whose mindless onslaught their Mother has to put up with. The first of these spaces, Earth's surface, is fouled up by sections of this global diaspora in ways and by means that don't need to be mentioned explicitly in this column.

The second space, namely subterranean and submarine regions is being emptied of all its minerals, chemical compounds, raw materials for industries and automobiles, in addition to hurting the marine fauna which may join the growing list of extinct species sooner than later, not to forget depletion of groundwater.

The third space, namely atmosphere, read 'the air' that we breath and the plants need for carrying on photosynthesis and yield food, fuel and fodder for livestock, is getting loaded with many well-identified toxic gases causing devastation in the health of all stake-holders.

Suffice to say there is no dearth of knowledge about what has created the present dismal scene in all aforementioned spaces of Mother Earth, and more importantly, who are the artistes generating that scene. Residents of Mysuru, barring exceptions of course, are only a small sample of that global mass of mindless artistes disdainfully taking active part in posing the three-tier threat to Mother Earth and its bounty. How long the Mother can bear it is not for Her to answer. The mortals have the answer but couldn't care less.

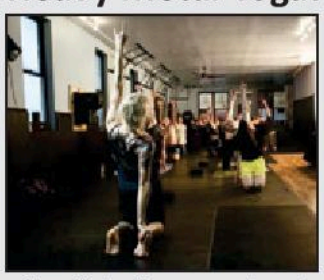
Decorated Jaguar

Kuala Lumpur: Ever since he decorated his prized Jaguar S-Type with 4,600 colourful toy cars from his Hot Wheels collection, a Malaysian businessman has been turning heads in and around Kuala Lumpur.

Reports of an unusual-looking Jaguar S-Type limousine covered in thousands of miniature cars driving around the Malaysian capital had been circulating on social media for a few weeks. Luckily, the Harian Metro man-aged to track down the owner and get to the bottom of this mystery.

The owner of the eye-catching car is Datuk Seri Mahadi Badrul Zaman, the 34-year-old CEO of Financial Genius Group. Who is popularly known as Mahadi BZ, wanted his Jaguar S-Type look different, and since his extensive collection of toy cars since he was 13, decided to glue most of the 5,000 cars on his limousine and solve two problems at once. Plus, now his car reflects his flamboyant personality and fashion sense.

Heavy Metal Yoga!



New York: Heavy metal music and yoga may seem incompatible, but one New York yoga instructor with a passion for metal has mixed them together in a series of classes that help people relax and unleash their inner beast at the same time.

Head-banging, death growls or "devil horns" hand gestures, all executed to a background of loud metal music, aren't exactly elements associated with yoga, but it's exactly what you can expect while attending a Metal Yoga Bones class run by Saskia Thode. It's not the most Zen experience in the world, that's for sure, but the Brooklyn-based yoga instructor claims that her classes are just as liberating, if not more so, than regular yoga.

Instead of the group "Om" that usually starts off a yoga class, Thode gets metal yoga class participants in the mood with death growls – a loud and booming "roar" often used in death metal music – screaming and banging of fists on the floor. The classes do involve actual yoga, but Saskia likes to spice things up with metal-themed poses she invented herself, like "Destroyer666", "F*ck you" or "Corpse Pose." She also incorporates air guitar or flipping the bird in some of the exercises.

Simple and effective public toilets: Will MCC take up this initiative?

Sir,

Under Swachh Survekshan - 2017 programme, the Tirupathi Municipal Corporation in Andhra Pradesh has provided 'pay and use' public toilets at several places in the city.

During my recent visit to Tirupathi, I have noticed one such facility just opposite to the Railway Station for the convenience of the general public. It is very compact and simple structure supported by solar power. It occupied less place. It has separate urinals and toilet sections for gents and ladies. A separate facility for physically challenged is also installed with a ramp. This design best suits when place is a constraint in crowded areas.

Hope, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) will also initiate such facility in the city at all prominent places for the convenience of general public as well as tourists.

NANJANGUD-GUNDLUPET BY-ELECTIONS

Misuse of Government machinery by Congress led to defeat, feels BJP

Yeddyurappa

Bengaluru, Apr. 24- An introspection meeting convened by the State BJP at its headquarters in Malleswaram yesterday attributed the loss in the recent Nanjangud and Gundlupet by-elections to 'gross misuse of the Government machinery, muscle and money power by the ruling Congress.'

The BJP top brass also felt a tactic understanding between the Congress and JD (S), which did not contest the by-polls, affected their prospects in both constituencies.

The meeting was chaired by State BJP President B.S. Yeddyurappa who spearheaded the party's poll campaign in both constituencies. The meeting, however, did not get right into the crux of the issues that resulted in BJP losing elections. The meeting was held in the background of the party's old guards putting pressure on Yeddyurappa to change his functioning style.

The meeting was attended by Union Minister H.N. Ananth Kumar, Udupi-Chikkamagaluru MP Shobha Karandlaje and defeated candidates V. Sreenivasa Prasad and C.S. Niranjan Kumar.

Sources said that the meeting went off well with each leader explaining the reasons for the defeat. Nearly two hours was dedicated to the discussion on Gundlupet and around 30 minutes to Nanjangud.

Sreenivasa Prasad told the meeting that it was he who lost the election in Nanjangud and the BJP need not take the blame. "It was my fight with CM Siddharamaiah and the party need not take the blame. Instead, I will take the blame and respect the decision of voters," he said and added that the vote share that BJP got in 2017 by-polls at Nanjangud and Gundlupet was higher than that of 2013 polls.

In a desperate situation to win, the Congress Government deployed over 20 Ministers in both constituencies and this came in handy for the ruling party to lure voters, some leaders felt. Other leaders pointed out areas where they had failed and urged party bosses to address them before the next election in 2018.

For the first time, 60 party workers who worked in villages in both constituencies were specially invited to obtain a ground zero report on the party debacle. They claimed that the Congress spent money to woo voters 'with full Police protection.'

BJP leaders hailed Yeddyurappa's leadership saying he still managed to ensure that the party gets a decent vote share in both the constituencies. Ananth Kumar reportedly said the party has performed well in the by-polls and it need not worry about the results because the two constituencies were Congress bastions.

Briefing reporters after the meeting, BJP State General Secretary Arvind Limbavali said that the results came as a surprise to them. The meeting resolved to work towards achieving the 150 seat mark in the 2018 Assembly elections and install a BJP Government led by Yeddyurappa.

Top leaders skip introspection meet

Eshwarappa

Jagadish Shettar

Bengaluru, Apr. 24- The crucial meeting called to discuss the BJP's poll debacle in Nanjangud and Gundlupet was skipped by many leaders signalling all is not well within the party.

Other than Union minister H.N. Ananth Kumar, Yeddyurappa's confidants Shobha Karandlaje, Aravind Limbavali and V. Somanna, and defeated candidates V. Sreenivasa Prasad and C.S. Niranjan Kumar, no prominent party leaders from the State attended the meeting.

Former Chief Ministers D.V. Sadananda Gowda and Jagadish Shettar, former Deputy Chief Ministers K.S. Eshwarappa and R. Ashoka, former Minister C.T. Ravi were among the prominent ones who skipped the meeting.

Referring to the absence of senior leaders at the meeting, BJP State General Secretary Aravind Limbavali said both leaders had taken permission from Yeddyurappa to abstain from the meet owing to other preoccupations.

While Jagadish Shettar said that he had got an invitation to participate in the meeting but he had informed Yeddyurappa that he could not attend the meeting as he was attending pre-scheduled programmes in his constituency, Eshwarappa said that he couldn't attend because he was on a pilgrimage to Murdeshwara, Kollur Mookambika and other temples.

Former MP Vishwanath to quit Congress?

Vishwanath

Bengaluru, Apr.24- Upset over being continuously sidelined, former MP A.H. Vishwanath is said to have decided to quit the Congress, the party with which he was associated for over four decades. Vishwanath is all set to give a shock to the Congress, which is still in a celebratory mood following the Nanjangud and Gundlupet by-polls victory.

Vishwanath, an influential Kuruba leader and a prominent politician of Mysuru region, upset over the way the Congress leaders are treating him, is said to have made up his mind to quit the Congress and join the JD(S).

Vishwanath, apart from being a politician, is also a writer, thinker and orator and has maintained good contact with party workers. Vishwanath, who commands respect from all communities, is a straight forward person who doesn't hide anything.

Vishwanath, who has been criticizing Siddharamaiah's Governance and political moves of late, is visibly upset over his side-lining in the party.

The former MP believing that it would not be wise to stay in the party where he has no respect anymore, is said to be considering joining the JD(S) which has reportedly promised him a suitable position in the party. He is said to have already held first round of talks with JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda, State President H.D. Kumaraswamy, youth JD(S) President Madhu Bangarappa and other top leaders and is likely to join the party on May 10.

Meanwhile, speaking to SOM, Vishwanath said that he is yet to make up his mind on joining any party after leaving the Congress.

Admitting that several BJP and JD(S) leaders were in contact with him, Vishwanath said that he was in a dilemma whether to leave the Congress which he was associated with for over 40 years.

Claiming that CM Siddharamaiah had completely ignored him, Vishwanath said that he was seriously thinking about his next political move, considering his age.

Two Nanjangud advocates selected as Judges

Nanjangud, Apr.24 (RS&DM)- Two advocates from Nanjangud, Suryanarayan and Nagajyothi, who were selected as Judges in the exam conducted for appointment of Judges recently, were felicitated by the Nanjangud Bar Association at a programme organised here recently.

Speaking after inaugurating the programme, Senior Civil Judge Manjunath complimented Suryanarayan and Nagajyothi on getting selected as Judges.

Pointing out that two, as advocates, had strived to uphold the dignity of Court and had rendered justice to their clients, Judge Manjunath wished the newly-appointed Judges all success in their career.

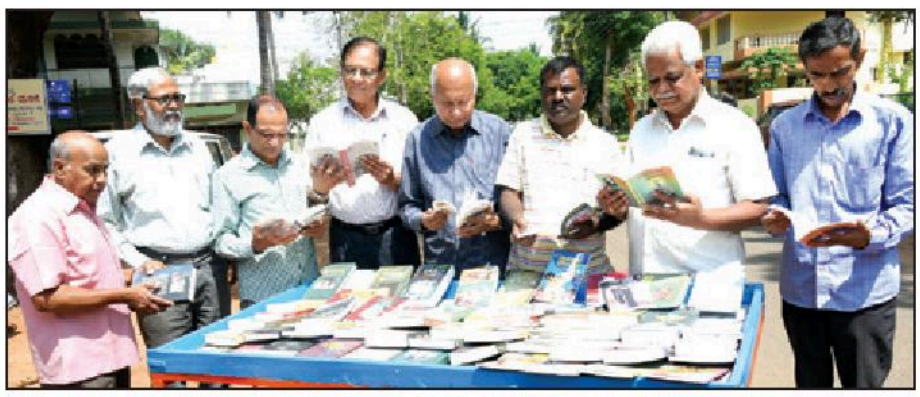
Nanjangud Bar Association President Rachappa, in his address, said that he too had a chance to be selected as a Judge, but his political aspirations kept him out.

However, his dreams has now become fruitful with advocate Suryanarayan, a relative of his becoming a Judge, Rachappa said while complimenting the two advocates for becoming Judges.

Judge Sharmila, S. Sandeep, APPs Purushottam, Savitha and P. Nagaraj, Nanjangud Bar Association Secretary Srinivas and others were present.

Book Expo marks World Book Day in City

Books are a treasure of best thoughts and knowledge: Dr. CPK



Litterateur Dr. C.P. Krishna Kumar, Prof. N. Girigowda of Venkatagiri Publications, former member of Lalithakala Academy S.M. Jambukeshwar and others are seen perusing the books on display in the push-cart after inaugurating the World Book Day in city yesterday. Picture right shows Corporator M.V. Ramprasad distributing books to competitive exam aspirants.

Mysuru, Apr.24 (SP&DM) - Observing that books are a treasure of the best thoughts and knowledge, veteran writer Dr.C.P. Krishna Kumar (CPK) has said the word 'world' in 'World Book Day' has a special significance attached to it.

Dr. CPK was speaking after inaugurating 'World Book Day' celebration organised jointly by Kannada Book Authority (KBA) and Chinthana Chittara Sahitya-Samskrutika Vedike, at the Park located in front of Kannada Book Authority outlet on Maruthi temple road, behind Kamakshi Hospital here yesterday by pushing a push-cart loaded with books.

Maintaining that it is books which make us 'Vishwamanava' in the true sense, Dr.CPK said that the word 'Book' and 'Samskruti' were one and the same, meaning sweetness and light.

Noting that the two words display book culture, he asserted that there can be no alternative to books. Stating that 'book culture' may have temporarily taken a back seat because of the advent of visual media, Dr.CPK said that there is no denying the fact that books being a treasure of knowledge and thoughts always excite us.

Underlining the role of books in imparting knowledge to the people, he stressed on the need for promoting book culture among all ages as reading will always help one in improving concentration.

Noted writer Dr. R.V. S. Sundaram, KBA - Bengaluru Administrative Officer Mahadevaiah, Sales Manager Ningaraj Chittannavar, R. Sudheendra Kumar, Neelagiri Gowda and others were present.

This Cop is a fine cook, a traditional doctor and a nature lover

Alexander does not use mixer to grind masalas. He instead uses the traditional grinding stone.

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

Think of a Cop and the first thing that comes to mind is his uniform, a lathi and the gruff commanding voice that sends shivers down the spine of criminals and wrong-doers.

But here is a Policeman who is a wonderful cook and doubles up as a traditional doctor, a nature lover and a conservationist. A resident of Lourdnagar, near St. Philomena's Church, he is the much sought-after cook in the locality and those who have relished the food swear by the dishes he prepares.

For 54-year-old Alexander, son of Ayurveda doctor Dr. J. Irudayam, cooking and providing traditional medicines is a passion and he has won the hearts of many. Alexander is at present serving as a Head Constable at Jayalakshmipuram Police Station.

Alexander's wife Mary Shylaja is serving as an Inspector at Gangammanagudi Police Station in Bengaluru while his daughter Milagres Antony is working as an Assistant Professor at St. Philomena's College in Mysuru.

Alexander, who developed interest in cooking when he was in second standard, now cooks delicious vegetarian and non-vegetarian dishes with seafood as his speciality. He is a specialist in preparing a variety of fish dishes. A point to be noted here is that Alexander does not use mixer to grind masalas. He instead uses the traditional grinding stone.

This apart, he also prepares a variety of salads such as cucumber salad, Mexican salad, pineapple and carrot salad, dry fruits salad and sprouted grains salad. In all, he prepares over 18 types of salads.

Apart from cooking, Alexander is also a winemaker. He prepares wines using grapes, betel leaves, ginger, pineapple, tomato, jackfruit and rose without using any chemicals or alcohol for fermentation. People come from far and wide to taste Alexander's wines.

Alexander is also a traditional doctor and provides treatment for common minor ailments such as mild fever, cold and cough etc. A nature lover, he likes to be amidst forest. He has converted a part of his house into a mini-forest and has provided shelter to many birds.

His love for nature has made him plant many saplings at Police Stations where he served. With the permission of station officers and with the support of his colleagues, Alexander has converted the spaces in front of the Police Stations into beautiful gardens.

Passionate about football, Alexander, who joined the Police force 28 years ago, was also a member of the Police team and used to play in the forward position and as a substitute goalkeeper. He has represented the Police team at tournaments held in Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra and other States and has brought laurels to the Department.

Alexander has converted a part of his house into a mini-forest and has provided shelter to many birds.

Adolescent Children

A great challenge for themselves and others

Some time back I had an important conversation with a parent or one of my students. He was very disturbed because his only daughter was behaving in a very strange manner.

The girl in her teens, usually bright and outgoing, had suddenly become silent, sullen and sulking. She looked worried and tensed, had lost appetite and perhaps sleep too. Any casual talk or suggestion would irritate and annoy her. The members of the small family were greatly worried, naturally since a spirited child had become a total stranger.

This kind of report by worried parents of adolescents was not new to me. My association with this very sensitive group (adolescents) is a long journey, of over four decades and I have some experience in dealing with such emotionally disturbed kids, and helping them to regain the lost stability. Two or three sessions separately with the child and parents opened up details of improper handling of the child, which can be termed as wrong parenting, though not deliberately. Positive results started showing with successive counselling, which brought relief to all concerned.

In this regard, it may be of some use, for parents and children in similar situations, if some of the following issues are given some attention:

- Teach children to identify positive values, by talking to them with prudence, about self-esteem, honesty, personal effort, goal setting and, of course, about correct focus in life. Try and make a personal example.
- Maintain loving relationship by spending time with them REGULARLY.
- Help them to build self-confidence, so that they can support themselves in troubled situations.
- Listen to their complaints. They may reveal if they are being bullied or blackmailed by class mates or others.
- Remove their feeling of insecurity and fear and sadness by positively responding to their feelings and reassuring them that you are there ALWAYS to help them.
- Train them to be in the company of good friends because bullies will be looking for lonely individuals.
- Avoid giving smartphones to school-going kids. If you cannot help, then at least keep an eye on your child's internet and chats and e-mails because these reveal a lot of information about your own child. Build a friendly and positive attitude with the child so that your eye on the chats etc., will not be misinterpreted as spying.
- Do not criticise their dreaming or idealism in public, but gently correct them when they are dogmatic, intolerant and impatient.
- Do not always sermonise or insult in whatsoever manner, that may hurt their feelings and image.
- Look at the warning signals like sudden drop in academics, losing friends, losing books and other materials like watch or calculator (I mean thefts), torn clothes, small physical injuries (They could be the results of fights with peers). Your child may not open up and disclose all details at once, but gentle handling of the situation will gradually reveal some aspects of the trouble. It all depends on how you have built your bridges with your children.
- Most of the time bullying or ragging takes place in the school bus or while on ground during free time, cheating even the most watchful eye of the staff. So try to know who are your kid's friends and with whom the child is not comfortable. It will help. Train them to report to you any unpleasant event big or small without delay.
- Have no doubt in your mind that adolescence is a period associated with conflict, challenge, tension and turmoil (more now than when you were of that age).

Therefore, all of us, teachers, parents and relatives have to understand that it is our combined responsibility to see these children safely through this period of transition, when they will be facing social and emotional challenges, where they experience more than normal anxiety and fear not able to know how to reason it out. It is very important to monitor them carefully because they are unquestionably the future of our society.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

Harmonising hostile Chi

Tenets of Feng Shui specify that disturbed or stagnant energy flow in a home or office gives rise to arguments and hostile feeling amongst the occupants. During intense arguments, the energy expended is very strong and hence there is a sense of clash of ego, anger, hostility which is absorbed by the surroundings. Understanding the secrets of the earth's energies and how to manipulate them can modify the cycle of such energies.

Homes have subtle intangible energy caused by influences such as the inner spirit of the home. When this energy becomes negative, sick, and stagnant or stale, it brings in misfortunes, obstacles and problems. The negative Chi creates obstacles that impede harmonious flow of energy.

Most often such situations create bad vibes which makes relationships go bad both at the domestic front and at place of work with colleagues and peers.

The bad energy from Feng Shui point of view could be due to many reasons but it is observed that most often it is due to the bad earth energy in the home which in turn could be due to simple passage of time or even positioning plants at the wrong sector of the home.

Plants represent wood energy and when these are inadvertently placed in earth sectors like Southwest or Northeast, they deplete the earth energy. If you notice arguments taking place very often among members of the family, take a look at your external surroundings and inside of the house. You may find thorny plants outside or negative neighbours who constantly fight or are always in debt, avoid being in touch with such negativity as the negativity can "suck" your energies and make you feel drained.

If quarrels are a common thing and husband and wives have arguments and quarrel over trivial things and no logical reasons, then we could narrow down on the bedroom area and a simple remedy is to place a décor in red and gold in the bedroom.

It could even be due to piling clutter and junk at the wrong place which could trigger off negative vibes. The most vulnerable areas are those in and around the main door way and bedrooms, ensure these areas are not blocked. You could even suspend a metal wind chime near the main door and observe if things are changing, if yes then you are right on track.

Energy that rushes in fast along a long corridor negatively affects not only the corridor but also the area where the energy hits like the wall at the far end of the corridor. Place a lush, healthy-looking plant to disperse the residual negative energy that is leaking into the room, or hang a bright nice painting at the far end of the corridor on the wall.

If quarrels are a common thing and husband and wives have arguments and quarrel over trivial things and no logical reasons, then we could narrow down on the bedroom area and a simple remedy is to place a décor in red and gold in the bedroom. Keeping noise levels low in such sectors and avoiding placement of television, music systems would help in reducing the ill-effects of such afflictions.

Stage set for IPL's Local Derby

Mumbai, Apr. 24- Mumbai Indians will be looking to settle scores when they take on the Rising Pune Supergiant in a game billed as the local derby, at the Wankhede Stadium tonight.

Mumbai Indians have lost only one game this season and that defeat was inflicted by Rising Pune Supergiant in their tournament opener.

As the teams brace up for the return leg, the stage has been set by Saturday's exhilarating action involving the two outfits. Mumbai Indians warmed up for the encounter with a thrilling win over Delhi Daredevils, built on the tremendous performance of their bowlers. An equally-sensational effort from Pune Supergiant's Mahendra Singh Dhoni has added to the excitement around the tie.

The two Maharashtra sides have had contrasting fortunes since their first game, with MI soaring to great heights with six wins in six, while Supergiant's campaign floundered. However, the return leg comes at a time when the Steve Smith-led side has also picked up momentum, with two wins in their last two games.

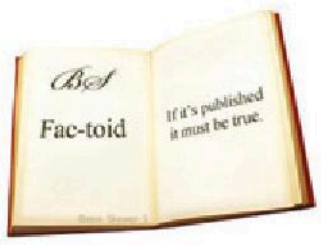
WORD OF THE DAY

Factoid

Pronunciation: FAK-toyd



Meaning: An invented fact believed to be true because of its appearance in print; a briefly stated and usually trivial fact.

Origin: We can thank Norman Mailer for the word factoid; he coined the term in his 1973 book Marilyn, about Marilyn Monroe. In the book, Mailer explains that factoids are "facts which have no existence before appearing in a magazine or newspaper, creations which are not so much lies as a product to manipulate emotion in the Silent Majority." Mailer's use of the -oid suffix (which traces back to the ancient Greek word eidos, meaning "appearance" or "form") follows in the pattern of humanoid: just as a humanoid appears to be human but is not, so a factoid appears to be factual but is not. Mailer likely did not appreciate the word's evolution. As current evidence demonstrates, it now most often refers to things that decidedly are facts, just not ones we tend to pay much attention to.

THE ODD WORD

Anomie

Condition of lacking accepted social values or standards.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Get your goat

Meaning: Make you annoyed or angry.

Origin: Given the meaning of 'get your goat', the term goat is used as a slang term meaning anger or annoyance. That meaning is recorded in the US book Life in Sing Sing, 1904, in which goat is given as a slang term for anger.

The phrase originated in the US and the first entry in print comes from a fanciful story about a burst water pipe that was printed in the US newspaper The Stevens Point Daily Journal, May 1909:

"Wouldn't that get your goat? We'd been transferring the same water all night from the tub to the bowl and back again."

The expression took a few years to cross the Atlantic. The first non-US citation isn't found until 1924 in the English author John Galsworthy's story White Monkey, and even there it is clearly seen as a recent innovation:

"That had got the chairman's goat! - Got his goat? What expressions they used nowadays!"
